Michael Shuman
Michael Shuman is an economist, attorney, author, and entrepreneur. He is director of Local Economy Programs for Telesis Corporation, a nonprofit affordable housing company, and currently an adjunct instructor at Bard Business School in New York City and at Simon Fraser University in Vancouver. He’s also a Fellow at Cutting Edge Capital and at the Post-Carbon Institute, and a founding board member of the Business Alliance for Local Living Economies (BALLE). He is credited with being one of the architects of the 2012 JOBS Act and dozens of state laws overhauling securities regulation of crowdfunding. Michael’s most recent book is The Local Economy Solution: How Innovative, Self-Financing Pollinator Enterprises Can Grow Jobs and Prosperity (Chelsea-Green, 2015). One of his previous books, The Small Mart Revolution: How Local Businesses Are Beating the Global Competition (Berrett-Koehler, 2006), received as bronze prize from the Independent Publishers Association for best business book of 2006.

Nicholas Mang
Nicholas Mang is a community development consultant, educator, and impact investor focused on innovating holistic, cross-sector strategies for regenerating local economies, cultures, and ecologies of place. He is founder and co-executive director of Story of Place Institute (a non-profit 501c3), a principle consultant at Regenesis Collaborative Development Group, and director of Jessica’s Love Foundation. Nicholas has over twenty years of work experience in communities across North America, organizing and facilitating community redevelopment initiatives. Current work projects include Impact Network Santa Fe, focused on developing a community impact network dedicated to building shared learning, information, capacity, and collective strategies for growing a more robust local impact economy in the Santa Fe region.
